New Business:

Dave went to Salt Lake City for the UPC Plumbing and Mechanical code hearings. The trend is to having the required standards in the body of the code, and reference only standards in a separate section. Inspectors and contractors may find this confusing, and that cost of so many standards is expensive.

John from Advanced Graywater had an update on testing of his product. We spoke of the passing of Ella Marie Bailey at the age of 87 on April 26. The chapter will give $400 to Bob Bailey instead of flowers.

Kurt Bramstedt explained the changes to the 2012 CISPI standards. One part, on the new radiation screening requirements was discussed amongst several attendees.

Presentation was by Klaus Reichardt of Waterless Company, the first company to produce waterless urinals. He spoke about the availability of fresh water worldwide, water conservation, how millions of people do not have access to fresh water, and on waterless urinals.
